

Women's Health Action want to hear about your experience of cervical screening in Aotearoa New Zealand. This includes if you've never been screened, or if you've received further treatment.

Our goals are to learn from whānau voice and lived experience; better understand what the barriers are to accessing screening; and form recommendations for improving the system.

Information from our survey will be summarised and reported to Te Whatu Ora (Health New Zealand) and the National Screening Unit. Your data will remain anonymous and confidential.

All survey participants can enter the draw for a $150 Prezzy Card
